Soviet Forces Clear Germans From Ploesti

Reds Drive into Bucharest and Link Up Two Armies in Romania

By W. W. HERCHER

LONDON, Thursday, Aug. 31. (AP)—The Russians cleared the Germans out of all the rich Ploesti oil fields and penetrated the Bucharest metropolitan area yesterday while linking up their two armies in the Romanian theater for a concentrated blow in the direction of the Hungarian plains.

Fall of Ploesti, long the greatest single source of oil for the German war machine, was hailed as the most significant day's victory of the twelve-day campaign, which forced Romania a week ago to jump from the Axis to the Allied camp.

In capturing more than 200 towns in a day around Ploesti and north-east of Bucharest, the nearest announced Soviet approach to the Romanian capital was seventeen miles, at the village of Merita.

Speedy patrols, however, were believed to be much nearer to the capital, which the Romanians have announced they themselves already have retrieved from the Germans.

The lightning advance southwestward by Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukrainian Army caught another 15,000 Germans Tuesday, Moscow announced, the prisoners including a corps commander, Gen. Heil, a divisional commander, Lt. Gen. Weitzner, and two colonels commanding divisions.

This brought the total of captured German generals to thirty-four since the general summer offensive began June 23.

East of Malinovsky's newly won positions, the Third Ukrainian Army of Gen. Fedor I. Tolbukhin captured 100 towns in the big pocket between the Danube river bends and the Black sea and shouldered up to the river next to their comrades of the Second army.

The Russians claimed no towns in the vicinity of the present Bulgarian border on their left flank, but Moscow dispatches said it was considered a certainty that they had thrown out flanking guards and established some sort of frontier contact with the Southern Dobruja territory that Bulgaria took from Romania in 1940. Moscow will have an important voice in deciding the ultimate disposition of that territory.

Whether the next main Russian thrust will be westward up the Danube to Hungary or through the Carpathians into Transylvania remained a Soviet secret.

German Hopes For Negotiated Peace Unfounded

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30. (AP)—The American government, it was emphasized today, is resolute on unconditional surrender as the only terms for Germany and it does not intend to let Hitler and his henchmen escape punishment by taking refuge in some neutral country.

Secretary of State Hull restated this policy in effect when asked at his news conference for comment on the broadcast of the late Nazi military commentator, Lt. Gen. Kurt Dittmar, admitting that the defeat of Germany was inevitable.

It is evident, Hull declared, that the Germans are desirous of a negotiated peace but the Allied position for unconditional surrender is too well known to require reiteration.

As for the possibility that Hitler and other leading Nazis may flee to a neutral country, Hull said this government is keeping that constantly in mind. President Roosevelt, he recalled, appealed to the neutrals a year ago not to furnish sanctuary to war criminals and the British government did likewise.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30. (AP)—A realignment of the Allied command in France to give Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley parallel status with Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery as an army group commander was reported here today. This move, it was explained, will be made in recognition of the rapidly broadening scope of operations.

Anticipating a recurrence of protests voiced by some newspapers in Britain when a similar report—later denied—came from Allied headquarters two weeks ago, informed persons said there was no criticism, real or implied, of Gen. Montgomery.

A formal announcement of the change is expected shortly meanwhile, it was said that since Gen. Eisenhower moved his headquarters to France and took personal command of the operations, the need for a deputy commander for all Allied ground forces no longer exists, and therefore the title held by Montgomery since the invasion started has lost its meaning.

At the same time, it was said, Montgomery's field responsibilities as commander of the Twenty-first army group (British-Canadian) multiplied enormously as the Allied forces swarmed out of the beachhead in pursuit of the disorganized German armies, so that the logical step was to free him of any further responsibility for operations of the Twelfth army group under Bradley.

This development was said to have been foreseen from the beginning, and it had been clearly understood by the Americans—they thought by the British also—that Montgomery's overall ground command was for the initial invasion, and would continue until the American strength was built up to equal that of the British and a breakthrough was achieved.

Another factor entering the picture, although its place is not yet clear, is the invasion of Southern France by the Seventh army under Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch. This force, now sweeping north through the Rhone valley, is part of Eisenhower's command, but there is no indication yet whether it will become a part of Bradley's army group or operate as a separate command, after a juncture is made with the forces in Northern France.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30. (AP)—Time Correspondent John Scott broadcast over the Blue network from Stockholm today a report that Germans were sending poison gas cylinders to the English Channel coast.

The correspondent said an Allied plane had strafed a heavily-guarded train, en route from Germany through Holland to the coast, and that poison gas had escaped from cylinders it was carrying, killing several of the guards and throwing a nearby Dutch town into panic.

"Many trains, heavily guarded such as this one, have passed through Belgium and Holland recently towards the channel coast," Scott added.

Meanwhile, a British broadcast monitored by NBC said Polish patriots in Warsaw have reported the capture of "gas grenades" from Germans fighting inside the Polish capital.

Dirksen Says FDR Is 'Using the Navy' To Win Reelection

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Me., Aug. 30.—President Roosevelt is seeking the fourth-term presidency of the United States "under false pretenses," Congressman Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.) told a nationwide radio audience tonight in a speech delivered here.

Speaking at a Republican rally, Dirksen charged that President Roosevelt launched his four-term campaign in mid-July in a thirty-four day trip which carried him to the Hawaiian Islands.

"It is interesting and instructive to note," said Dirksen, "how times have changed. Back in 1941, it was also suggested that Mr. Roosevelt should go to the Hawaiian Islands. The purpose of that trip was not political. It was, instead, for a conference to seek to prevent war with Japan. But Mr. Roosevelt did not take that trip. He said that the twenty-one days required for that momentous purpose were too long to be away. On this recent journey Mr. Roosevelt was away thirty-four days."

"On this trip not paid for by a party committee, he traveled secretly—expenses paid by you and me. The people did not see him. He did not see the people and even when they heard his voice, he spoke to them in secret from somewhere on the Pacific coast."

Dirksen questioned the "commander-in-chief inspection trip" when he pointed out that Roosevelt's private train made a secret stop at Chicago just as the Democratic national convention was in progress. He also asked the same question regarding the summoning of the chairman of the Democratic National Committee to meet him in secret, on that train and the "leave everything to Sidney" instructions as reported in daily press.

"Was it as commander-in-chief and for inspection purposes," asked Dirksen, "that Roosevelt—when he sailed for Pearl Harbor—left at home Adm. King, whose business it is to run the navy, and Gen. Marshall, whose business it is to run the army? Was it as commander-in-chief and for inspection purposes that, instead of military advisers, his companions on this trip were Ross McIntyre, his personal physician, Elmer Davis, his chief of propaganda, and most of all, Sam Rosen, the number one ghost writer of Roosevelt's political speeches?"

He commented upon the "Hello, Doug" greeting and cited the "virtue" (Continued on Page 7, Col. 7)

Nazi Prisoners Tell of Ghastly Lublin Fantasy

Majdanek, Established for Mass Murder, Took Half Million Lives

By DANIEL DE LUCE

LUBLIN, Poland, Aug. 27. (Delayed)—Four German prisoners of war stood with a bored air in front of a Russian-Polish atrocity commission here tonight and told their stories of Majdanek, perhaps the greatest horror in Nazi Europe. In crude phrases they asserted that men, women and children of twenty-two nationalities had been gassed, hanged, shot, burned, drugged or starved to death in the three years of the operation of the Majdanek barbed-wire-enclosed camp in a rolling meadowland at the edge of Lublin. Russians and Poles have estimated that it received more than half a million persons doomed to extermination. Majdanek is a ghastly fantasy. It was established for murder on a vast but methodical scale. Until a group of American and British correspondents visited it today, with its six concrete vaults for execution by cyanide or carbon monoxide gas, its open-air crematorium surrounded with skeletons, its mounds of human ashes mixed with manure for fertilizing cabbage patches and its overflow burial ground in a pine woods carpeted with decaying bodies—most of these newspapermen could not even begin to imagine the proportions of its frightfulness.

German Officers Speak
Tonight with our clothes still reeking of the dead, we sat in a stuffy Lublin courtroom while three German SS (elite guard) officers and one German civilian renegade spoke indifferently of Majdanek scenes of slaughter and blamed all on "orders from above."

N. A. Stalb, a blond, six-foot German butcher, arrested in 1939 for selling meat in the black market, told in a clear, strong voice of his incarceration in Majdanek, during which he once became a member of the barracks police detail.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30. (AP)—The American fleet now numbers more than 1,150 major fighting ships, Navy Secretary Forrestal disclosed today in reporting that 65,000 vessels of all types have been added to the navy in the last five years.

This armada makes the United States "the greatest naval power on earth," Forrestal commented at a news conference with its building program "little more than half finished."

Forrestal said the warships added to the navy number more than three times those in the fleet just before the war started. This means the navy has at least 1,150 ships of principal fighting types—battleships, aircraft carriers, cruisers, destroyers and submarines.

In addition to the navy's vast growth in ships, Forrestal gave these figures on other expansion in the five years since the European war started.

Aircraft—57,600 planes delivered, air strength increased twenty times and still growing with 30,000 planes to be delivered in the next twelve months.

Ordnance—Torpedo production increased forty times over 1939. Depth charge production sixty times greater than five years ago; 125,000 anti-aircraft guns and one billion rounds of anti-aircraft ammunition produced.

Personnel—For every person serving in the navy marine corps, and coast guard in September 1939, there are now twenty-four today. Combined strength of the navy, marine corps and coast guard now is 3,717,000.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30. (AP)—The army today took over its twenty-second and largest and fastest hospital ship, the 700-bed Charles A. Stedman, named for an army medical corps captain killed during the Java evacuations. It formerly was the New York and Cuba mail liner, S. S. Siboney.

HUNGARY HIT IN NEW RED DRIVE

THE RED WAR MACHINE continues to tear through the crumbling Balkans as (1) entrance to Hungary was begun by way of the Carpathians (indicated by arrow). Also the road up the Danube (indicated by shaded area) has been further cleared as Russian forces land from the Black sea and overrun areas near the Danube mouth. With Ploesti and Bucharest both in the path of the terrific drive, the push toward Vienna gets well under way. Meanwhile (2) from Allied headquarters comes the statement that the Aegean sea is now blockaded. Ploesti was reported captured yesterday.

Roosevelt May Meet Churchill In Near Future

[By The Associated Press]

Signs multiplied last night (Wednesday) that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill are arranging another meeting soon to discuss the future of rapidly weakening Germany, and plans to step up the war against Japan.

In Washington, the belief was general that the swift Allied inroads against the German defenses in Europe have spurred plans for the meeting. Military and naval men take the view, it was learned, that while German resistance can conceivably be prolonged, it may collapse at any time.

This poses, not only the question of the armistice terms to be imposed on the Reich, but the broad subject of how to bridge the gap between the end of the war in Europe and the proposed establishment of a world agency to keep the peace.

American officials have suggested that the existing European Advisory Commission, with its Russian-American-British membership, be broadened in scope to cope with problems arising out of possible internal revolutions in some European states and "little wars" over territory.

The British Broadcasting Corporation said in a broadcast to Europe yesterday that political correspondents expected Roosevelt and Churchill to meet soon concerning German armistice terms and "how to hasten the downfall of Japan."

This followed President Roosevelt's news conference remark Tuesday that everyone knew another meeting with the prime minister was to take place. He added that the time and place were too intimate to reveal. It will be the eleventh session between the two leaders.

German Armored Column Strikes In South France

Force from Italy Attacks in Effort to Relieve Pressure

By NOLAN NORGAARD

ROME, Aug. 30. (AP)—American forces hacked relentlessly at fleeing survivors of the German Nineteenth Army along a twenty-mile stretch of the Rhone valley today, while ninety miles to the east a strong Nazi armored force struck into France from the Italian frontier in an effort to relieve the pressure on Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz's shredded army.

Yank motorized infantry attacked the Germans retreating from Southern France with particular ferocity at Loriol, thirteen miles north of Montelimar, where the Nazis were attempting to get across the Drome river on hastily-thrown pontoon bridges and resume their flight toward the fatherland.

Advance American elements, skirting the main road of battle at this point and driving to head off another segment of the enemy's disorganized forces, had reached the town of Chabeuil, twenty-seven miles up the valley from Montelimar and only six miles east and slightly south of Valence.

The fifty-six miles from Valence on to the city of Lyon promised only more unremitting punishment for the Nazis, and even the vanguard of the fleeing enemy appeared unlikely to escape the closing Allied net except in very small, disorganized groups.

Presumably hoping to compel Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch to divert part of his forces from the methodical slaughter along the Rhone, the Nazis sent a striking column across the Alps from Northwestern Italy to attack the American garrison at Briancon, eight miles inside France and about fifty miles southeast of Grenoble.

Although the Yanks were driven out of the medieval town, suffering some casualties and loss of equipment, the seizure was considered of minor importance.

Recipe for a Perfect Marriage

Dee and Jane Cuppers celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary last Saturday. Having so many friends, it seemed like half the town stopped in that evening to pay their respects.

Little Ida Moffat brought a home-made poem to read, called "Love Enduring." Bert Childers added "Silver Threads Among the Gold." Will Dandley made a speech and proposed a toast.

And as I watched that toast—Dee with his glass of beer, Jane with her buttermilk—I thought to myself: There's a recipe for happy marriage. Two folks with different tastes—no doubt an honest fault or two—who through the years have learned to live in tolerance and understanding.

From where I sit, Dee and Jane are a mighty good example to young married people of today—an example of how moderation, tolerance and understanding can build lasting happiness and solid homes.

War's Anniversary Finds Germans Preparing for Homeland Defense

(Editors: This is the first of three stories on conditions inside Germany, as reported in Stockholm. The author is the Associated Press chief of bureau in the Swedish capital.)

By EDWIN SHANKE

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Aug. 28 (Delayed) (AP)—The Nazi quadrivirate of Hitler, Himmler, Goering and Goebbels is whipping together a people's army for the battle of Germany and is sending war battalions to restore the border fortifications from which the conquest of Europe began Sept. 1, 1939.

It is reported here that the Germans are modernizing their Siegfried line, built in 1938-39 to match the French Maginot line, and also are reconducting the line in the west which first was built against Poland, and are building new fortifications in Czechoslovakia.

Canon dismounted from the Siegfried and Maginot lines after the fall of France and taken to Norway and Denmark now are being returned to their original emplacements.

Building Home Defense Army

The Nazis are scraping for manpower to build a home defense army, since trained reserves have been sent to the front long since. Swedish military commentators estimated that last spring Hitler had 7,300,000 men under arms in 405 divisions, with more than 300 of these divisions at the fronts. Since then, his reserves have been melting fast.

From the type of training given the new recruits, it appears that they mainly are intended to be snipers. They are 16 to 18 and 40 to 65 years of age.

The Hitler youth movement, which includes every boy from 10 to 18—is running an obligatory three-week military course in close co-operation with the army.

The press has announced that the boys not only must learn to handle rifles but especially how to fight from ambush and from the cover of ruined buildings.

Boys Are Called Up
Boys of 16 and 17 now are being called up, and are punished if they fail to report for duty. Several thousand Ukrainian youths have been taken to Germany to help with antiaircraft defenses.

The storm trooper organization also is extending its training in how to shoot, with appeals for pupils of all ages. Many stories in the German press extol the activity of men as old as 82, and pictures show them in their sixties marching with shotguns.

The Hitler youth, besides learning sniper tactics, also is taking over jobs as firemen and replacing police on routine beats. Persons who left Germany recently say it was not unusual to be stopped by armed patrols of the Hitler youth who inspected identity papers.

In order to offset war losses and replace men drawn from war industries to the front, Propaganda Minister Goebbels, as chief of mobilization, has pushed the extent to which he has suppressed what remained of normal living in Germany.

How much manpower Goebbels can muster is problematical. One Swedish military commentator said 1,000,000 would be a high figure and that in any case the men would not be first class.

Mostly Propaganda
Many persons coming out of Germany say Nazi talk of total mobilization, the third such drive since Stalingrad, is mostly propaganda, and merely a means of putting the people under tighter control.

One source said old women would not increase war production, that there was not enough work for the mobilized people to do anyhow, because of material shortages and factory destruction, and that there were so many foreign workers in Germany no more Germans were left to be taken out of factories and sent to war. This source said even now there was but one German formen over every 200 foreign laborers.

The only way to build up more men at the front, he said, would be to use the so-called "indispensables" of the home front, especially the strong young men used by Himmler's police.

Another source said these men must remain "indispensable" to hold the home front line.

Hitler's own paper, the Voelkischer Beobachter, said, "we have had total mobilizations before, but this time it is really serious."

240 American Soldiers Will Be Exchanged

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 30 (AP)—Two hundred and forty American soldiers are among more than 1,000 Allied prisoners of war and civilian internees who are to be exchanged at Goteborg, Sweden, about Sept. 8, an authoritative source says.

In addition, possibly 100 American civilians who have been held by the Germans are slated for inclusion in the exchange.

The American soldiers are understood to be chiefly sick and wounded air force personnel.

Victory Ship Will Be Named for Frederick

BALTIMORE, Aug. 30 (AP)—Victory ships now being built at the Bethlehem-Fairfield shipyard will be named for two small cities and towns in each state and territory, chosen for their interesting historical background and their role in the war effort.

Each of the communities so honored will be invited to designate a sponsor for the ship. Frederick, Maryland, famous as the home of Barbara Freiliche is the first city to have a ship named for it. The S. S. Frederick victory ship is under construction at the Baltimore yard.

Two Deeds Filed

Two deeds and one chattel mortgage were filed for record Tuesday in the office of the clerk of circuit court.

Horace P. Whitworth, attorney for the Allegany County Welfare Board transferred to Mr. and Mrs. Conrad C. Fridley a property in Corriantville. Sylvester John Page transferred to Thomas L. Popp a property in LaVale home addition.

The well-dressed gentleman of the Eighteenth century wore lace collars, cuffs, garters and shoe rosettes.

The first locomotive ever operated in the United States was bought in England.

Correction

In Bernsteins advertisement, Tuesday, the price of the three piece living room suite was quoted at $2.99. This was an error. The price should have been $299.00. L. Bernstein, 9 N. Centre street. Adv.—T-Aug. 30, N-Aug. 31.

Peace Is Necessary On the Home Front

"CAN Mr. Roosevelt really turn from mood of class warfare to a mood of peace and constructive healing of the wounds of economic strife—or is this a role that can be filled only by a new president and new leadership?" asks David Lawrence. He says this may come to be a paramount issue for the voters of America to decide at the polls this fall.

What Lawrence further says appears to answer the bifurcated question easily—the first part in the negative, the latter in the affirmative. He points out that the biggest single need in this country when the war ends is peace—"an end to friction and the ideological war which has been fermenting class hatred, racial bigotry, strikes and economic conflicts within our borders." Then he goes on to note that the Roosevelt administration has not started off with any encouraging program for postwar peace in America.

Lawrence cites the action of the administration in beginning a lawsuit against forty-seven major railroads and extending this warfare to other industries and businesses on issues mostly arising prior to the European war by filing 114 separate "anti-trust" and "restraint-of-trade" suits against companies and individuals. How can there be peace of reconstruction under such circumstances? Lawrence pertinently inquires.

There may be some merit in some of these suits, but it is difficult to see how so many businessmen would knowingly violate the laws of the land. Either the laws are in need of clarification or they are not being prosecuted for ideological or political purposes. Take the rail suit for example. The railroads have been doing only what the Interstate Commerce Commission has prescribed and approved, yet the administration suddenly finds that they have been violating the anti-trust laws by so doing all these years. As Lawrence says, this is going pretty far afield to look for trouble these days.

This trouble hunting is not going to bring about the peaceful cooperation necessary for industry and business to find jobs for the million boys who come home from the battlefronts. It simply cannot be done "if left wing and right wing are to fight a battle of extermination and if a political regime in Washington exploits such a crisis for its own end."

The Pearl Harbor Responsibility

THE SUSPICION, long entertained, that Washington was to blame primarily for the Pearl Harbor disaster rather than the military and naval chiefs in command there is given emphasis by the noted author, Clarence Buddington Kelland. He goes even farther and traces the responsibility to the president. Speaking before the Vermont Republican state convention at Montpelier, he declared that President Roosevelt "cannot avoid responsibility" for the Pearl Harbor naval disaster, which he said "lengthened the duration of the Japanese war possibly by years." Administration neglect of "elementary precautions," he declared, had subjected America "to the disgrace of the most tragic naval disaster in our history."

"Instead of having no effect upon the course of the Pacific war, Pearl Harbor lengthened it by months, perhaps by years, and the odium must attach to the highest authority which permitted the condition to exist," Kelland added.

The Arizona author said he was "more than disappointed" with the President's recent Bremerton, Wash., speech, which he declared "tossed the war and our great and successful production of arms, aeroplanes, ships and materials of war into the arena of partisan politics."

Kelland predicted a Dewey-Bricker victory in the November elections with the voters "turning over the conduct of our foreign affairs to an able, far-sighted, courageous president belonging to that party which alone has announced a coherent foreign policy and postwar plan."

This newspaper trusts that prediction will be fulfilled as recent trends both in Maryland and elsewhere now sharply indicate.

Philippine Invasion Appears at Hand

THE NEWS from the European front is, of course, exciting and thrilling. Events have been happening of such great importance that almost equally important moves in the Pacific have been far overshadowed.

They are almost equally important because the success of the present Nimitz-MacArthur plans will bring about Japan's greatest catastrophe of the war. Those plans call for the invasion and capture of the Philippines. And the battle is under way.

The softening-up process has begun—the pulverizing of Halmahera, which lies between Northwestern New Guinea and the Philippines, and the battering of the southern Philippine bases. Halmahera is being bombed repeatedly by Lieut. Gen. George C. Kenney's air force and the attacks constitute an open announcement to the Japanese that the invasion may come at any moment.

Shipping off the Southern Philippine waters is under constant attack, also Mindanao has been repeatedly hit, and large fires have been left burning in the island's main city of Davao. The Japanese know very well what is coming. What is going on in the Philippine area is one of the reasons for Premier Kojima's warning to his people that "the enemy is watching for an opportunity to land on our homeland."

The Philippines are the richest military prize in the South Pacific. They lie athwart the sea and air routes to the oil-rich Netherlands Indies. Their capture would slice off Japan's only major source of natural oil and would cut off very large Japanese military establishments in the East Indies.

There is hope, too, that Gen. MacArthur's drive into the Philippines will be aided by the natives in much the same way that the French patriots have risen in the battle of France. There is reputed to be an extremely active and well organized underground in the Philippines, ready at any moment to rise and strike at their Japanese oppressors. Watch the Pacific, too.

Railroad Casualties On Downward Trend

THE INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION recently released figures for the first six months of this year on the number of casualties caused by railroad accidents. They show that 2,277 persons were killed, including passengers, employees and persons who had no business on railroad property.

Although the total seems large, it is really small compared to the tremendous distances covered by the railroads of the United States and with the heavy wartime burden of passengers and freight. But the real significance of the commission's figures is revealed when they are compared to the first six months of 1943. An increase in casualties might have been expected as traffic movement became heavier and the equipment became older. Instead there is a reduction from the 1943 figures of seventy-two.

The total of passenger deaths remained the same for both periods—forty-three—a small number considering the many millions of passengers transported.

The commission's report continues with statistics on the number of persons injured. Here the record is amazingly good. Only 1937 persons injured as against 2,429 in 1943.

These figures should calm any fears which may linger in the public mind concerning the ability of the railroads to stand up under the strain of wartime traffic. When shortages in personnel and materials are taken into consideration, the record seems almost incredible.

The Seine and The Senne

COMES a timely protest against the incorrect pronunciation of geographical names now in the war news by radio commentators and news announcers.

The broadcasters have been pronouncing the Seine river in France as "Senn" instead of good old "Sane" (long sound of the "a"). So doing, they will get a chance to boil in their own grease when the fighting reaches Belgium. There is a River Senne in Belgium and it is pronounced "Senn."

Wherefore if the news should happen to relate at the same time to the Seine in France and the Senne in Belgium, the radio audience will have a difficult time trying to distinguish between them unless presently the announcers return to the correct pronunciations. Perhaps all the blame is not to rest on the radio fellows—others too, have had difficulty in getting some of the French names through their teeth to correspond to the sounds that the French for the most part put through their noses. But, give them credit in this instance at least for helping to make people more word conscious. There is nothing like an error to bring forth a correction.

Astronomers say the earth would appear blue to inhabitants of another planet. That's the way it looks to inhabitants of this planet, too.

Some folks climb the ladder of success wearily rung by rung. Others wait at the bottom for the elevator which never comes.

Apparently the government's policy is to give the fighting men all the news from home so long as it contains no information.

Common as Dirt?

By MARSHALL MASLIN

"Common as dirt." I've heard people say. . . "Common as dirt." They say with a sneer in their voices. "Common as dirt."

Common? Meaning low, degraded, filthy, worthless, something to scrape off your shoes when you come into the house. Something to wash off your hands before you put clean food into your mouth. . . Common like that?

Well, it's a waste of good words. A foolish phrase with no good in it. Common? What's wrong about being common? Good things are common. Bread is common, water is common, sleep is common, the air we breathe is common. The colors of a sunset, the green leaves of a tree, the flowers in the field, the songs of things—all these are common. You can't use the word common as a term of abuse. Not that word.

And you can't say, "Common as dirt," either. Dirt's the commonest thing of all, but it's not loathsome, it's not mean or low or it's not dirty, it's not useless. . . All things come up out of the dirt. Life sleeps in dirt, beauty is incubated there, strength is made safe in the common dirt. We call it dirt when we intend to sneer, we call it earth when we would praise it and show our love—but it's dirt just the same.

Walk into a field, bend down and scoop up a handful of the soft, moist, fragrant stuff, hold it, think about it. A passing stranger might think you mad, standing there in a plowed field, surrounded by the skies and the blackbirds and the drifting clouds, but you'd not be mad at all. You'd be very wise, learning something—reviewing the first lesson life printed there so plainly in a handful of dirt.

Tell you that out of this comes all things—dust thou art—and to this all of your returns. Telling you that the common things are beautiful and strong and inspiring. Telling you that dirt, so common, is comedy and tragedy and delight; that the common part of us is best; that the Common Streak that runs all through us is the Pay Streak that brings the most from life. Tell us such truths.

Don't be using "Common as dirt" as an epithet. Save it for compliments. Keep it for praise. Get wise.

NOW THE PROBLEM IS TO GET BACK DOWN

Testimony by Hillman on Political Action Is Seen as Basis for Federal Prosecution

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—Testimony given by Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO Political Action Committee, could furnish the basis for a rigid enforcement of the federal Corrupt Practices act if the department of Justice cared to do so.

He has just testified as follows before the special House committee investigating campaign expenditures:

"To finance the work of the committee, we are requesting voluntary contributions in the sum of one dollar from the members of the CIO."

Work Time a Contribution

Mr. Hillman, himself, is a paid official of a labor union. If he is giving all or a substantial part of his time to a political committee and still draws his salary from a labor union this is a "contribution" by that labor union in the eyes of the law. Incidentally, there doubtless have been cases in which corporations have loaned or will loan their executives to political committees for the duration of a campaign. Unless these executives go on leave of absence or their salaries are cut down by deducting payment for the time spent away from the company, such corporations would be making "contributions" to a political campaign and would be violating the statute.

Mr. Hillman points to the political activities of various associations and organizations, but the law does not forbid the creation of political committees. It merely declares that the money shall not be contributed by corporations or labor unions. If any of the various associations, like the National Association of Manufacturers, for example, which Mr. Hillman mentioned, are engaging in political activity, the burden of proof will be on such associations, first, to prove that the money they receive from corporations is not used to help elect candidates for federal office and, second, that the member corporations do not make available lists of stockholders to "political committees" for the purpose of securing from them contributions for the financing of any political activity.

Political Nature Conceded

Most of the associations named by Mr. Hillman as engaging in political activity do not disavow their political nature. The CIO Political Action Committee, having endorsed the Roosevelt-Franklin ticket, concedes through its testimony that it is a "political committee" as the term is defined in the federal corrupt practices act.

It is unlawful, incidentally, for any political committee to receive contributions from prohibited sources, so the penalty attaches both to the giver and the recipient.

The labor union members are without rights in making voluntary contributions to a political committee just as are stockholders of corporations, but if either a union or a corporation makes available a list or loans its personnel or contributes any facility it lays itself open to a charge of law violation.

Even the assembling of labor union members in a list for mail canvases or in a group for the purpose of listening to a plea soliciting funds is a violation of the federal Corrupt Practices act and specifically the Smith-Connally amendment. This is because it is the labor union organization which calls the meeting and offers a list or other facility which could not be secured otherwise except through the action of the labor union.

Obviously, to assemble members for the purpose of giving them an opportunity to contribute funds and furnish a hall or meeting place is very valuable to any political committee which has access to such a group of prospective donors of funds.

Prosecutions in Order

Two wrongs do not make a right. If various associations on the anti-labor side have been endorsing political candidates and assisting directly or indirectly in their election, then any funds expended by such associations, if obtained from corporation treasuries or through the assistance of corporations, should be investigated and prosecutions should follow.

It would be a good thing if the federal Corrupt Practices act were rigidly enforced by the department of Justice with respect to all possible offenders irrespective of which party or cause they are supporting. Plainly, neither labor union membership lists nor stockholder lists can be furnished by unions or corporations, respectively, either openly or clandestinely without violating the provisions of the federal Corrupt Practices act.

Need of Able Men Is Seen for Task Of Selling Surplus

By MARK SULLIVAN

For the disposal of surplus property, acquired for war purposes but remaining on hand when the war ends, the Senate has passed a bill, the House another. In the usual way, there are now in conference between committees of the two branches, to arrive at a uniform bill.

Whatever the bill thus to be arrived at and finally passed, there ness, or at least not put small business at a disadvantage.

In Small Lots

In offering surplus war materials for sale, the policy will be to offer it in lots small enough to facilitate bidding and purchase by small businesses. In the same spirit, in the disposal of surplus land already under way, the policy is to offer farm land in lots small enough to be adapted to one-family farm units, and to discourage absentee ownership.

Another problem is timing. If the system of privately owned industry is to continue, it is desirable that the lapse of time between war industry and peace industry be brief. If there should occur, following the end of the war, a prolonged period of business paralysis or business at a low level, that would bring unemployment. And serious unemployment would be seized upon by the radicals as justification for government operation of industry.

Quick Sale Desired

To facilitate speed in the transition from war industry to peace industry, it is desirable that surplus war property be sold as quickly as is practicable. For a condition in which immense stocks of government owned materials hang over the market, to be sold some time in the future and at a price not yet known, would tend to create caution on the part of businessmen, cause them to hesitate about making commitments.

Even with broad policies such as these agreed upon, the actual process of selling the surplus war material will give rise to scores of intricate problems. Almost there will be a different problem for each material, and different problems in dealing with different types of purchasers. There can be no escape from the paramount necessity expressed by the Baruch-Hancock report, the need for "the judgment and ability of the best men who can be gotten for the job."

Enforced Military Training Is Unwise, Paul Mallon Says

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—War department, American Legion, and others, seeing how our nation was nearly near destruction because of its military deficiencies, are pushing compulsory military training.

Bills have been introduced in Congress to require each American youth, like the Europeans for many generations past, to serve a year or so in the army.

The women leaders, who have always killed such proposals, are promoting a new substitute this time. I heard a woman organization leader advocate it on the radio. Mrs. Roosevelt, I believe, has spoken and written in favor of it, as have several other feminine public counselors.

They want to train the youth in a non-military way under federal auspices with the money of the state, to make them "good democratic citizens." I do not believe these women have lent much thought to their proposal which springs from their natural love of peace and revulsion against things military.

Objective Missed

We need a military force—so we train one in "citizenship." Can they really believe the nation could have been saved against the Nazis if the youth had just been "good democratic citizens" and not good soldiers? What could good citizenship have done at Pearl Harbor?

Any soldier will tell his mother that the best trained soldier has the best expectancy of life. It is the poorly trained citizen soldier who is least able to protect himself in a fight.

Everyone seems agreed we need military training of a larger section of our youth than formerly. We need it for love of our country and its ideals, and the protection of both in this world, such as it is. We need it more than ever because protection rests upon mastery of mechanical devices such as planes and tanks.

The proposal of the ladies would defeat the purpose of what we agree we need. It is much worse than that, because it proposes to have the minds and bodies of the youth in their formative period, not for defense of the country which is their common obligation to the state, but for the political education.

Akin to Hitlerism

Is this not democratic Hitlerism? What is the real difference in method, between drafting youth for camp education in citizenship, and the Hitler and Mussolini youth movements and youth camps?

The War department, Legion, et al. have a similar weakness in their proposal. They want the training we need to be accomplished by compulsion on the citizen, arguing that otherwise the youth would not join in the program.

Has democracy then failed, even in victory? I think not. Only the ingenuity of a democratic people has failed. Only the devotion and service of our leaders to democratic theories has failed.

If the War department, the Legion, and the ladies all turned their thoughts away from these current sloughs of dictatorial imitation, and sought democratic methods of attaining their objectives, they could have agreed upon a method by now. I can think of some democratic ways it could surely be done.

Bigger Training Schools

Treble or quadruple the size of West Point and Annapolis, for the first thing. Allow each senator to appoint ten or more boys from home (by democratic examination methods only) to these free schools of military training.

If I know the American youth, there would still be a waiting line for both schools, and many boys earlier would select high school subjects which would prepare them for such schools.

Offer the subjects in the high schools, which will enable such preparation to those who are inclined toward engineering, aviation, mechanics. You can even have a reserve officers training corps, in the schools, under an army officer. But do this in the democratic way.

Don't force all youths into these ventures. In addition to being un-American, it is unwise. Those who wish to go into such lines will desire to make the best of their opportunity for a free education.

The same education will be wasted on the others who do not want it. Herding these in by compulsion would merely give you a bad army, numbers, not effectiveness.

Incentive Necessary

If you want camps for military training for others, let the government make these attractive enough to youth to invite their interest and participation. Do not go back to the old army salary of $30 a month. Keep salaries of defense service up as long as you need men for defense. Make the defense services of this country honorable professions, such as Britain has always made her navy. Do not revert to the popular scorn of military duty.

These three simple democratic methods without compulsions possibly would give the army and navy more men each year than they want or could handle, in my opinion. If not, there are other ways, which the experts could devise—not to name the youth with glorified CCC camps and WPA's.

Selective Recoveries in Postwar Favorites Feature Stock Trading

By VICTOR EUBANK
NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—Selective recoveries, mainly in postwar favorites, kept the stock market looking a bit better today although persistent reconversion doubts left many leaders faltering in the background.

Buyers were heartened to some extent by suggestions that the list had undergone a pretty fair correction and could negotiate a substantial rally. The drive of the Allies in Europe, however, pointed to a possibly quick victory and resultant home front difficulties of numerous industries returning to normal operations. A real purchasing rush, consequently, never developed.

Touching peaks for 1944 were Bendix, South Porto Rico sugar and International Paper. Retaining modest gains were Chrysler, Youngtown Sheet, Goodrich, United States Rubber, Macy, Montgomery Ward, J. I. Case, Douglas Aircraft, Western Union "A", North American, American Water Works, Sante Fe, Southern Railway, New York Central, Phelps Dodge, Certain-Teed, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical and du Pont.

A mild rally in rails pulled the bond market into higher levels today.

Reversing the recent narrow and mixed pattern, a majority of the active carrier loans were favored from the start of trading and at the end there were numerous gains of major fractions to more than a point. The trading pace remained slow, however, with sales at $5,166,100, compared with $5,437,600 on Tuesday.

United States governments, quiet on the stock exchange, were active and steady in outside markets.

Girl Scout Hospital Aides Will Be Honored at Dinner

Girls To Be Feted in Recognition of Their Work at Memorial Hospital

The Girl Scout Hospital Aides will be honored with a dinner to be given at the Little House, Sept. 6 at 6 o'clock by the Girl Scout Program committee in appreciation of the work they have been doing in Memorial hospital.

Besides the twenty-seven aides, guests will include Mrs. Morris Williams, commissioner; Mrs. Joseph Williams, deputy commissioner; Mrs. George T. Woodworth, scheduled chairman for the hospital aides and chairman of the program committee; and members of the committee, Mrs. Norman Geatz, Mrs. Adolph Blunk, Mrs. Forest Patrick and Mrs. Milnor Bruce.

In conjunction with the Girl Scouts extensive war program the local scouts, between the ages of 14 and 16 years took the Girl Scout home nursing and first aid courses last winter and were awarded the certificate for each, becoming eligible as hospital aides. The group was organized July 19, 1944, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Arthur C. Bright and since then until August 10, inclusive, have completed 622 hours. Mrs. Woodworth announced. By September 2 they will have better than 1,000 hours, she added, and praised the girls for their faithfulness and loyalty in the performance of their duty.

The hospital aides have worked on three shifts a day. Mrs. Woodworth explained. The first with six aides working is from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock in the morning; then from noon until 2 o'clock with eight aides; and six working from 5:30 until 7 o'clock. After September 2 the work will be discontinued for a couple of weeks until the school schedule is obtained, then another work schedule at the hospital will be set up for the evening hours. Mrs. Woodworth said.

Gretta Hersh leads the group in hours with thirty-four and one-half hours, inclusive of August 10; with Lenora Lazarus next with thirty-two; Catherine McMannis and Anna May Poorbaugh, tied with thirty-one and one-half each; Virginia Bourman, thirty; Alice Bourman, twenty-nine; Gwendolyn Pahey, twenty-eight; Sue Kamens, twenty-six and one-half; Pauline Durante, twenty-five and one-half; Anna Marie Kelley, twenty-three and one-half; Joan White, twenty-one and one-half; Barbara Bright, twenty-one.

Ann Mease and Christine Yergan, tied with twenty and one-half; Charlotte James, twenty; Evelyn Guthrie, eighteen and one-half; Miriam Billings, Barbara Blunk, Margaret Moore and Jean Wiers, tied with fourteen hours each; Eleanor Kelly, twelve; Eileen Kelly, ten; Joan Reinhart, Eleanor Kelly and Betty Hillary, eight each; Doris Trenton, four; and Patricia Fraue, two.

Canning Lecture Given in Ridgeley

An illustrated lecture on the three methods of canning was given by Miss Thura Marshall, home economist of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company, Tuesday evening in the Ridgeley high school. The demonstration was sponsored by the United Brethren church, Calvary Methodist church and St. Anthony's Catholic church.

Miss Marshall stressed the importance of following directions in the use of any cooker, and also of hot-packing vegetables for quick processing. She pointed out, however, that fruits are to be cold-packed, with the exception of those not quite ripe, which are pre-cooked in their own juice.

Crockery jars, among the first used for canning, were exhibited. Among the food canned during the demonstration were green beans, carrots, pears and tomatoes.

A forum was held following the demonstration and booklets distributed.

Members of First Baptist Church To Honor Pastor

Every member of the congregation of the First Baptist church is urged to attend the "Special Get-Together Meeting," which will be held at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening at the church, S. M. Gloggin and Mrs. William Gatehouse, chairman of the deacons and deaconesses, announce.

The meeting will be an informal reception in honor of the Rev. and Mrs. Edwin W. Saylor, in celebration of the tenth anniversary of the former's pastorate here. The Rev. and Mrs. Saylor will return early tomorrow morning from their vacation in Ocean City, N. J.

A musical program will be presented in the church auditorium under the direction of Mrs. Bess Goodwin and Mrs. Sara E. Moreland after which the honor guests will receive the congregation in the social room. Besides the pastor and Mrs. Saylor the reception committee includes Mr. Gloggin, Mrs. Gatehouse, Mrs. Virgil Rice, head of the Aid Society; Mrs. Gilmore Rice, head of the Missionary Society; Harper White, superintendent of the Sunday school; Hugh Whitaker, trustee and Carl Herpich, head of the financial committee.

400 Persons Attend Festival in LaVale

A crowd of approximately 400 persons attended the opening of the summer festival of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company held last evening to raise funds to defray the expenses of the new siren purchased about a month ago.

Robert Lancaster won the tonic drinking contest; and Gene Stanley, the watermelon eating contest last evening. A variety program was presented by the Moose band, under the direction of Joseph H. Morton; and several accordion selections were played by Miss Martha Norris. The Boy Scout troop, sponsored by the fire company, assisted in directing the crowd and the traffic.

The Ferrero trio, consisting of Rosemary, Delores and Leonard, will play this evening at 9 o'clock. There will also be the games and contests for the children.

C. C. Zembower, E. C. Lancaster, E. T. Beachley, Mrs. Lancaster, Mrs. Zembower and Mrs. P. W. Hawkins comprise the committee of arrangements.

Exhibits, Reports Feature Meeting Of Homemakers

Exhibits and reports featured the meeting of the Potomac Valley Homemakers Club yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. C. Shumaker, Rawlings.

Mrs. Caleb J. White, Peace chairman, made a report on the news released from the Dumbarton Oaks conference and from an article on postwar peace plans by Sumner Welles. Mrs. Stella Lambert added some thoughts on the same topic.

The striking features, either in architecture or history, of the temples and churches of the world, were outlined by Mrs. Herbert S. Rawlings, in reviewing Dr. Robert D. Dudley's "History of the Church of the World." Mrs. Rawlings touched upon the temples of early Egypt and through the ages to the present time.

Articles sent by Maj. Ralph Luman, stationed in Southern France, to his wife, Mrs. Wilma Luman, were displayed. They included different kinds of handmade jewelry, gold and silver embroidered silk slippers with very pointed toe and no heel, a wool rug and leather hassock cover, bought in Africa; a miniature donkey and cart, elaborately decorated, from Sicily; and a hand-painted glass vase.

Mrs. Shumaker exhibited insignia sent to her by her son, Peter, Granville Shumaker, who is stationed somewhere in India. The collection includes a sun and star on a red, white and blue shield, besides various insignia of both the American and Chinese units there.

A financial report of the fair was given by Miss Maude A. Bean, county home demonstration agent, who also gave a talk on making garments and displayed some which had been made from patterns which are available in her office. Routine business was also transacted. Fourteen members and six visitors attended.

Mrs. B. H. Kiser will be hostess for the next meeting at 1:30 o'clock September 26, at her home in Pinto.

Sport Club Will Resume Meetings Friday Evening

The Women's Sport club will resume its semi-monthly meetings for the fall and winter at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening at Central YMCA, with Miss Eleanor Gerkins presiding.

Plans will be formulated for the corn roast scheduled for the month with Mrs. Gail Waugh, chairman, and Mrs. Mary Felton and Mrs. Margaret O'Neill assisting.

Besides serving as hostesses for the Community Servicemen and Women's Lounge the members also have conducted a service in the Queen City station for the past year and a half, checking luggage for servicemen and supplying information to them. The schedule for September has already been filled. Miss Helen Hardinger reports.

Events in Brief

Mrs. Frances Roe has accepted a position on the faculty of Shenandoah high school, Miami, Fla., according to word received here. Frostburg Gains Victory League

Mountain City Legion Tops Local Legion 3-2; Firemen Trim Lonaconing 7-3

Frostburg American Legion topped the final in the Shaughnessy playoff series for the 1944 championship of the Victory Junior Baseball League by defeating Cumberland American Legion 3-2 in a nip-and-tuck battle at Frostburg last evening. It was Frostburg's second win in the series and ended the preliminary playoff in the shortest possible time.

In the meantime, the Cumberland and Iron Firemen invaded Midland and turned back the Lonaconing American Legion 7-3 in a game called in the seventh inning because of darkness. The second contest of this series will be staged next Wednesday on the North End playground diamond.

Workman pitched five-hit ball for Frostburg while Ronald Ambrose scattered seven hits in the route for the local Legion. Frostburg scored all of its runs in the sixth frame when Bill Sonnenberg singled, Lou Biggs doubled and Joe Langan lashed out a home run.

Cumberland counted once in the first when Workman issued four consecutive walks to force in a run and again in the seventh when Eddie Siebert doubled and Ralph Beard tripled, but Joe Langan failed at the plate by Sonnenberg.

Beard had three of the losers' five blows while Skidmore was the only Frostburg batsman with more than one safety.

The game at Midland was called in the first of the seventh after the Firemen had scored six runs with Lou Lonaconing tallied both of its markers in the second while the Firemen clinched the game in the fourth when George Mothersole singled, stole second and scored on Dick Smith's single.

Jack Kauffman had Lonaconing to three hits—singles by Billy Smith.

White Sox Whip Detroit Tigers

DETROIT, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Cuffing three Detroit pitchers for fifteen hits, eight of them for extra bases, the Chicago White Sox hammered out an 8 to 3 victory before 8,407 fans today to gain an even break in two games with the Tigers.

Ed Lopat, left-hander who went all the way for the Sox, gave twelve hits, three for extra bases, including three double plays. The victory was Lopat's eighth against nine losses.

Johnny Gorsich, who started for the Tigers, lasted until the sixth, when he was driven out and charged with his thirteenth defeat. Walter Beck and Roy Henshaw succeeded him.

The defeat dropped the Tigers back into third place. The box:

It will be played Dec. 2 at Annapolis and under the same wartime restrictions that have prevailed for the last two years, Navy Secretary Forrestal announced today.

Tickets will be limited to residents of Annapolis, a town of about 16,000, and those living within ten miles of the community. The prewar parades and colorful ceremonies will be omitted.

Forrestal's announcement blasted the hopes of those in Congress and elsewhere who have been agitating for a return of the game this year to Philadelphia, where it used to pack 100,000 spectators into Municipal stadium, or to New York.

Only last week, Rep. Sammie Weiss, of Pennsylvania, urged that this year's game be staged in all 48 states. He argued that a billion dollars worth of war bonds could be sold at the game, that both schools would get funds needed for their sports programs, and the game would be a morale-builder.

There have been suggestions also that it be staged in a big stadium with the proceeds going to army and navy relief.

Forrestal said the limitations were imposed "in accordance with the wartime necessity for economy."

Frisch Banished By Umpire Boggess

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Manager Frankie Frisch of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was banished from the dugout by Umpire Linton (Dusty) Boggess during the fifth inning of the second game of a doubleheader with the Chicago Cubs today.

After trotting up to the plate to talk to his catcher, Hank Camelli, while apparently criticizing Boggess' calls with Bill Nicholson at bat, Frisch returned to the dugout and continued his remarks from there until banished.

Baltimore Plans Modern Stadium

Mayor Proposes Construction as Permanent Home for Orioles

BALTIMORE, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Construction of a modern stadium for football and as a permanent home for the Baltimore baseball club was proposed today by Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin, who said that this city has made an impressive demonstration that it is in fact a baseball city that merits representation in a major league.

McKeldin revealed that blueprints for rebuilding the 65,000-seat municipal stadium on Thirty-third street were drawn recently following a conference with engineers and officials of the Baltimore Orioles, who moved into the big bowl after fire destroyed Oriole park July 4.

Two separate proposals were being considered, McKeldin said, adding that most of the discussion had been on plans to rebuild the present stadium to accommodate approximately 90,000 persons.

The second plan called for construction of a sports center at some other suitable location, with accommodations for all outdoor sports, plus indoor facilities for basketball, boxing, wrestling, ice hockey, an auditorium for conventions, auto shows and other similar events.

The mayor said that he would appoint a committee shortly after Labor day to study the plans, with members including "persons competent to pass upon the legal, financial, real estate, traffic and transportation, engineering, architectural and general business aspects."

He estimated that cost of the rebuilding would range from $1,000,000 and $1,500,000, while a new sports center would cost from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000.

LEONARD HURLS NATS TO VICTORY OVER A'S

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The Washington Senators won their three-game series today against the Philadelphia Athletics with a 9 to 4 victory behind the ten-hit pitching of Dutch Leonard.

The Senators massed fourteen hits, including three triples and three doubles, to win after bowing to the A's in both ends of the doubleheader yesterday.

Frank Hayes clouted his twelfth home run of the season to tie the score in the second, but the Senators connected for a pair of runs off Luke Hamlin in the third and then knocked him out of the box with a five run spurt that clinched the game in the fourth. The box:

Indians Explode In Eighth Frame

To Blast Browns

CLEVELAND, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Amassing eight runs in the eighth inning, the Cleveland Indians came from behind to defeat the league-leading St. Louis Browns 12 to 7 today and win a split of their two-game series.

Seven pitchers, four Indians and three Browns, saw service during the contest. The Tribe collected sixteen hits off the offerings of Jack Kramer, George Caster and Al Hollingsworth while the Browns nicked Hal Harder, Joe Hughes, Jim Bagby and Ray Post for twelve safeties.

St. Louis Shortstop Vern Stephens hit his sixteenth home run of the season in the sixth inning and the Tribe's Roy Cullenbine hit his fifteenth round-tripper to open the Cleveland half of the eighth for Indians.

The Browns began the scoring by collecting two runs in the fourth, added two in the fifth, one in the sixth and two in their half of the eighth.

The Indians were shutout until the fifth frame when they scored three runs. They added one more counter in the seventh and then hit the jackpot. The box:

Yankees Outslug Red Sox To Take

Runs Fail To Offset New York's 16 Hits

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The New York Yankees moved into second place today in the American League standings, three and a half games behind the league-leading St. Louis Browns, when they outslugged the Boston Red Sox 9-7 before 7,929 fans.

The victory, coupled with Detroit's defeat by the Chicago White Sox gave the Yankees a half-game lead over the Tigers and the Red Sox who are tied for third place.

Though all three home runs hit in the game were made by the Red Sox, the Yankees banged out sixteen safeties, good for six extra bases. Nick Etten paced the New York attack with four hits, including a double and triple.

After the Yankees had compiled a 6-1 lead, the Sox went to work in the seventh and blasted Hank Borowy from the box with four runs, including homers by Jimmy Bucher and Bob Johnson. Jim Turner ended the scoring, but after the Yanks had tallied twice in their half, the Sox came back in the eighth with two more when Bucher hit his second home run, one on.

Emmett O'Neil, first of four Red Sox pitchers was the loser with Borowy, the winner, his sixteenth of the season.

The contest marked the Red Sox's last 1944 appearance in New York. The box:

Wood was the only one who went out to get, but L. Gilbert A. Hunt, of Washington, D. C., a noted up-and-coming star, failed to turn the trick against sixth-seeded Iron Cadet Bobby Falkenberg, of Hollywood, Calif., in an all-army match. Mrs. Helen Pedersen Ribbany, of New York, and Katherine Winthrop of South Hamilton, Mass., ninth and tenth respectively in the women's national rankings, failed to survive their first-round matches.

The other seeded stars, with the exception of Mexico's Armando Vega, came through in good style.

Forrestal's announcement blasted the hopes of those in Congress and elsewhere who have been agitating for a return of the game this year to Philadelphia, where it used to pack 100,000 spectators into Municipal stadium, or to New York.

Only last week, Rep. Sammie Weiss, of Pennsylvania, urged that this year's game be staged in all 48 states. He argued that a billion dollars worth of war bonds could be sold at the game, that both schools would get funds needed for their sports programs, and the game would be a morale-builder.

There have been suggestions also that it be staged in a big stadium with the proceeds going to army and navy relief.

Forrestal said the limitations were imposed "in accordance with the wartime necessity for economy."

Frisch Banished By Umpire Boggess

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Manager Frankie Frisch of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was banished from the dugout by Umpire Linton (Dusty) Boggess during the fifth inning of the second game of a doubleheader with the Chicago Cubs today.

After trotting up to the plate to talk to his catcher, Hank Camelli, while apparently criticizing Boggess' calls with Bill Nicholson at bat, Frisch returned to the dugout and continued his remarks from there until banished.

Forrestal said the limitations were imposed "in accordance with the wartime necessity for economy."

By CATHERINE O'Rourke
MT. SAVAGE, Aug. 30.—Members of St. George's church and Sunday school will hold a picnic Sunday at Meadow Mountain. Trucks will leave from the church after both Sunday school classes and services. In case the weather is not suitable, the affair will be postponed until the following Sunday.

A health clinic for children will be held Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock in the community building. County health officials for this district will be in charge.

Personals
Miss Virginia Waters, who has been vacationing for three weeks at the home of her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Harris M. Waters, returned to Baltimore today.

David Auld, United States Navy, Swarthmore college, Pa., returned today after visiting the Rev. and Mrs. Harris M. Waters.

Mr. and Mrs. John Geary and children and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Geary, are visiting the Rev. Joseph Geary, New York.

Robert Holt is working at the office of the board of education in the place of Mrs. Lucille Smith who resigned to take a head office position at the Rockingham Marketing Co-operative plant.

Baldwin Rites Held
Funeral services were held Monday afternoon, August 28, for John Arthur Baldwin, 68, who died at his home south of Moorefield August 26. The Rev. E. S. Wilson conducted the service at his home and interment was in Old Fields. Pall bearers were Albert and O. A. Leatherman, Aaron and Harry Welton, Wilbur Sions and W. A. Harper.

Mr. Baldwin was the son of the late Henry and Sarah Everett Baldwin. He is survived by his wife, who was the former Miss Anna Hyre, and two children, Mrs. Donald Taylor, Moorefield, and Dorsey Baldwin, Arlington, Va. Two grandmothers, five brothers and four sisters also survive. At the Friday meeting, H. V.

In Memoriam

In memory of our neighbor, Mrs. John E. Williams, who died one year ago today, August 21, 1943.

Next door we lived as neighbors till your sun went down behind the hill; And when your night of death has gone, The sunrise of another dawn In your new life that knows no pain Will lift you to your higher plain. And we, when we have lived our fill, May be "next door" to you again.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE BARTIK AND SON, GEORGE MRS. L. B. SQUIRES
8-31-44-NT

In memory of our Mother and Grandmother, Mrs. John E. Williams, who died one year ago today, August 21, 1943.

You rocked us in our cradles, you taught us on your knee, You kissed our cheeks to make them well, and Oh, so tenderly! And now that God has called you, and you have said "I come!" We know that you prepare a place to make your Heaven our home.

Daughters, EVELYN, MRS. WILLIAM S. LEYH, Grandson, BILLY
8-31-44-NT

In loving memory of Mary Reager, who died three years ago, August 29, 1941.

Today, August 29, brings sad memories Of one who once was here, and who will always be remembered By the ones who loved her best.

You are gone but not forgotten, Never shall our memories fade, We will roam and wander flowers Around the grave that God has made.

Around the evening shadows are falling, And we are sitting all alone, Our hearts there come a longing, Only dear Mother could come home.

From this world she has come forever, Her sweet face we'll see on earth no more, But some day we hope to meet her where There will be no more sad parting, On that Golden Shore.

Sadly missed by HER CHILDREN RANDALLS, 617 Elm St.

Burke Will Head Chest and War Fund Campaign

Goal Tentatively Set at $114,000; Drive Starts in November

Edmund S. Burke, president of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, has been named general chairman of the combined National War Fund and Community Chest campaign to be held in Cumberland and Allegany counties the latter part of November. Harold W. Smith, president of the Community Chest, announced yesterday.

Smith added that the goal has been set tentatively at $114,000, subject to revision, however, when the chest budget is compiled.

He announced Burke will be assisted in directing the campaign by Attorney General William C. Walsh and that William A. Gunter, local attorney, will head the Advanced Gifts committee.

Full Year Budget

Selection of the campaign leaders was made recently by the National War Fund and Community Chest Campaign committee, composed of members of the Joint Community Chest and War Relief Appeals committee, Smith said.

He pointed out that $124,000 was raised in the joint campaign last year against a goal of $93,000 but reminded that the quota a year ago included a Community Chest budget for only six months, necessitating when the chest revised its fiscal year to coincide with the fiscal year of the National War Fund.

This year, with both organizations operating on a December 1 to December 31 fiscal basis, the tentative $114,000 goal includes a full year budget for the Community Chest.

Radical Request

Member agencies of the Community Chest have been asked to submit their budgets by September 15 to the chest's budget committee and Smith said revision of the tentative goal will depend on those figures.

Of the $124,000 raised last year, $2,300 was allocated to the American Red Cross under the payroll deduction plan used in some industrial units, Smith said, pointing out that this deduction from the total contributed in 1943 makes this year's goal about equal to the fund raised a year ago.

Faw Commands Army Personnel On Hospital Ship

From headquarters of the European Theater of Operations comes word of Lt. Col. Wylie M. Faw, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wylie M. Faw, Sr., 505 Cumberland street, and the Blanche F. Sigman, a hospital ship whose army personnel he commands.

A story relates how soldiers wounded in action in Normandy entered the ship to meet soldiers waiting to guide them to their beds where they found deep mattresses, smooth fresh sheets, fleecy blankets and comfortable pillows.

It was a procession of injured Americans, homebound boys, far treatment in hospital near families and friends, the story related.

And it added that among the officers supervising the flow was Lt. Col. Faw, commander of the army personnel.

The ship, named for an army nurse who was killed in a German bomb while working in a tent on the Anzio beachhead, has the most modern medical and surgical equipment available to speed the convalescence and recovery of wounded soldiers, according to the story.

About two weeks ago, Mr. and Mrs. Faw received word from their son that he had arrived recently at Charleston, S. C., with Americans wounded in action overseas.

Before entering the service in March 1940, Lt. Col. Faw, a physician, was located in Cambridge, Md.

DEPARTMENT OFFICERS WILL ATTEND POST 70 INDUCTION EXERCISES

Joseph J. Philbin, Baltimore, Maryland Department commander of the Twenty-ninth Division Association, and other department officers will be present at the newly formed Cumberland Post No. 70 at induction exercises tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the VFW home, 205 Union street.

At the conclusion of the activating exercises, department officers will proceed to the national reunion of the association which will open Saturday in Staunton, Va. A delegation from the local post will attend the three-day reunion.

William E. McHugh, commander of the Cumberland post, announced that five new members have joined, increasing the number of charter members to fifty-six. Names added to the charter include Lester L. Bolinger, Donald Macfarlane, Dale Kirby and David Crump and Joseph Lynch, of Mt. Savage.

St. Anthony's Church Will Open Forty Hours Devotion on Sunday

Forty hours devotion will be opened in St. Anthony's Catholic church, Ridgeley, W. Va., Sunday, September 3, with a high mass at 10 a. m., celebrated by the Rev. Valentine Long, O. P. M., it was announced yesterday by the Rev. Robert Kilgannon, pastor.

Evening devotion will be held Sunday and Monday at 7:30 o'clock and sermons will be preached by the Rev. Father Long.

High mass will be celebrated on Monday at 8 a. m., and also on Tuesday at the same hour at which time the forty hours devotion will be concluded.

Mrs. Lena Martin, organist, will have charge of the musical program.

Report on Heller Goes to Heskett

Helfrich Ired when Civil Service Board Fails To Advise Council

The mystery concerning a report on the seniority of Charles F. Heller, which was to have been submitted by the civil service board to the mayor and council at Monday's session, was finally solved yesterday by Hunter B. Helfrich, commissioner of streets and public property.

After numerous inquiries had been made at city hall as to the decision the board reached, Helfrich contacted H. Clifford Spiker, board chairman, by telephone, and learned that instead of the report being directed to the mayor and council it was sent to Charles Z. Heskett, city solicitor.

Helfrich told Spiker in no uncertain terms that the report should have been turned over to the council at Monday's meeting as the council had thrown the matter into the board's lap for a decision. In fact, Helfrich stated that Spiker would not be publicized before it was given over to the council on Monday.

Scottish Rite Will Start New Class Sept. 18

Exercises Will Be Held in Temple; Ali Ghan Shrine Holds Pilgrimage

Scottish Rite Bodies will start a new class at exercises to be conducted Monday, September 18, in the Masonic Temple.

Conferring of the fourth degree is scheduled for 3 p. m., and will be followed by a dinner at 6 p. m., after which the fifth, sixth and seventh degrees will be exemplified.

Several degrees will be conferred every two weeks until the class is finished on November 20. Twenty-nine degree teams will participate in the ceremonies.

For the first time in the history of the Scottish Rite a choir is being organized to participate in the degree work. William E. Capaldi and Harry K. Poling are directing the choir.

William E. Jenkins, illustrious potentate of Ali Ghan Temple, Ancient and Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, six members of his divan and the temple band made a pilgrimage to Mt. Lake Park Tuesday evening where they met thirty members of the Scottish Rite Masons of Oakland and dined at the Mt. Lake Park hotel.

Franklin E. Rathbun acted as toastmaster and remarks were made by Jenkins, E. Granville Shirley, past potentate, Harold C. Wickard, secretary of Scottish Rite Bodies, William M. Englehart, recorder, and Albert Kalbaugh, representing York Rite Masons. A concert was given by the band. Reaford Purbuagh was in charge of arrangements.

Ali Ghan Temple will hold its fall ceremonial and initiation of new members in the Maryland theater, November 27.

Mayor Advocates "Work And Worship" Slogan For V-day in Europe

Mayor Thomas S. Post yesterday urged that "Work and Worship" be the slogan for Victory day in Europe. The city's chief executive pointed out that victory over Germany and the end of the war in Europe will be a great accomplishment, but it will not mean the end of the world conflict.

"Mothers with sons facing death in the foxholes of the Pacific will not be inclined to join in hilarious celebration marking an end to the war in Europe," the mayor said. "When the final victory is achieved, then Cumberland will be ready to celebrate with all the rebirth of world freedom."

The mayor said that Germany's collapse is not the time for unrestrained celebration and mass gatherings, but rather citizens should take a notch in their belts and pause to thank God and ask for strength to complete the enormous task which lies before us in the Pacific.

Post lauded the stand of the Retail Labor Dealers' Association which has decreed that retail stores, taverns and bars in the county close on V-day for a period of twenty-four hours. He asked that churches plan services similar to those held on D-day.

Railroad Studies Coal Use in Locomotives

Intensive research to develop more efficient utilization of coal in steam locomotives is being conducted by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad as well as other railroad companies, Robert M. Van Sant, director of B. and O. public relations, said yesterday.

He added that Diesel locomotives, however, have justified their use on the B. and O. system for the special types of service for which they were bought.

Report on Heller Goes to Heskett

Helfrich Ired when Civil Service Board Fails To Advise Council

The mystery concerning a report on the seniority of Charles F. Heller, which was to have been submitted by the civil service board to the mayor and council at Monday's session, was finally solved yesterday by Hunter B. Helfrich, commissioner of streets and public property.

After numerous inquiries had been made at city hall as to the decision the board reached, Helfrich contacted H. Clifford Spiker, board chairman, by telephone, and learned that instead of the report being directed to the mayor and council it was sent to Charles Z. Heskett, city solicitor.

Helfrich told Spiker in no uncertain terms that the report should have been turned over to the council at Monday's meeting as the council had thrown the matter into the board's lap for a decision. In fact, Helfrich stated that Spiker would not be publicized before it was given over to the council on Monday.

Scottish Rite Will Start New Class Sept. 18

Exercises Will Be Held in Temple; Ali Ghan Shrine Holds Pilgrimage

Scottish Rite Bodies will start a new class at exercises to be conducted Monday, September 18, in the Masonic Temple.

Conferring of the fourth degree is scheduled for 3 p. m., and will be followed by a dinner at 6 p. m., after which the fifth, sixth and seventh degrees will be exemplified.

Several degrees will be conferred every two weeks until the class is finished on November 20. Twenty-nine degree teams will participate in the ceremonies.

Truck Drivers Threaten Walkout, Stutzman Asserts

Union Will Meet with Operators Today To Attempt Settlement

In an effort to prevent a walkout of truck drivers of the Cumberland area which a union official termed "almost certain unless efforts to equalize the wage rates between this area and Hagerstown are successful," H. Clifford Spiker, board chairman, of Local 433, Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union and company representatives will meet this afternoon with James A. Holden, conciliator of the Department of Labor, in the Liberty Trust building.

Drivers of the eight trucking companies operating here have threatened to quit work at midnight when the present contract expires unless equalization of pay efforts succeed. C. E. Stutzman, business agent of the truck drivers union, announced yesterday.

Wage Increase

The union is asking for an increase of seven cents an hour in the pay of city drivers and that an eight per cent wage increase be granted to over-the-road drivers to equalize road pay with the Hagerstown wage scale, Stutzman said.

Union officials conferred yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Frederick A. Puderbaugh, attorney for the companies, with Holden as representative of the government.

A petition for a wage increase, submitted by the union last year, was refused by the War Labor Board. The WLB turned down the petition, drivers of the Hagerstown area were granted a wage increase. A subsequent appeal here was refused by the WLB, Stutzman said.

The union feels that if the companies voluntarily agree to the increases asked, the WLB would probably approve the increase, Stutzman said.

Are Operating at Loss

Since every one of the companies involved have operated in the red for the past year and eight months, they feel that if there is an increase in wages the action should come from the War Labor Board, a company spokesman asserted, so that increased rates may be secured by the ICC.

The operators, which include Charlton, Novick, Steinla, Crites, Glenn Morris, Chaney, Twigg and the Cumberland Motor Express, are willing to abide by the decisions of the WLB, but in view of the fact that each company is operating at an average loss of $6,000 to $7,000 a year, wage increases without subsequent rate boosts would only plunge the operators further into the red, the company spokesman added.

Ninety per cent of the tonnage being moved by trucking firms of this area are war materials which are low paying cargo as compared to such civilian goods as refrigerators, stoves and household supplies. Aging equipment, difficulties in securing parts and tires have also been factors in the operating loss of the companies.

Wastepaper Drive Reaches Total of Twenty-five Tons

Smith Denies Reports Paper Salvage Is No Longer Necessary

Wastepaper collected in Cumberland in the first two days of the current drive has reached a total of twenty-five tons, Emmett A. Dougherty, in charge of the collection, said last night.

Seven tons of paper and magazines were collected yesterday and Dougherty termed this "better than average." Only ten tons were collected Tuesday and Dougherty explained that yesterday's increased volume was needed to get the collection back to normal.

Salvage Still Important

To date monthly collections, he said, are running ahead of the three-month collections formerly held and which netted about ninety-three tons each, and are also ahead of the two-month collection which netted sixty-seven tons.

Last night W. Donald Smith, salvage committee chairman, pointed out that the salvage of wastepaper still is extremely necessary to the nation's war effort.

He said he has heard reports that some people believe the campaigns are no longer necessary and are being conducted only to keep them mindful of the war effort, but Smith denied these rumors and declared there still is a heavy demand and that its supply remains critical.

Sought by Paper Firms

Paper companies, he continued, constantly visit him, telephone him and send representatives to see him in an effort to obtain the proportionately small quantity collected here and help relieve the shortage. Paper used by the armed forces overseas does not come back to this country for use again, he asserted.

Dougherty reminded that the collection today will cover all streets south of Baltimore street and Baltimore avenue down to and including Oldtown road, the Johnson Heights section and Mapleside north of Oldtown road. He asked again that paper and magazines be tied securely and placed on the curb before 9 a. m.
